

I strongly support living in a society where I can be a law abiding citizen, and remain unbothered in my house. Please do not weaken Wisconsin's No Call list. I deeply resent junk mail, junk email, and telemarketing calls. Isn't it obvious how we can convince people to make poor choices with enough advertising and marketing? To be honest, I purposefully avoid groups (profit and non-profit) that go "over the top" on marketing. If you have a good product and message, people will come and spend. But instead, the airwaves are so overloaded that people just tune out.
